Preface

A wide range of economic reforms have been introduced in Myanmar in the past few years. The economy has been gradually liberalized and has increasingly opened its doors to foreign investment and trade. Domestic entrepreneurship has been strongly promoted to stimulate investment in the economy. As a result, Myanmar's economy grew by 8.7% in 2014, and eased to an estimated 7.2 in 2015 due to widespread flooding and landslides, but is forecast to grow 8.4% in 2016 on recovery in agriculture and increased investments, according to ADB's Asian Development Outlook 2016. Growth has been supported by increasing investment, which in turn has been fueled by improved business confidence, exports, increasing production of natural gas, thriving tourism, and credit growth – all of which have been complemented by the government's ambitious structural reform program.

Myanmar is a member of the ASEAN Economic Community (AEC), which began operations in late 2015. Given its favorable strategic geographic position, Myanmar has a high potential to become a vital trade hub and production base in the region comprising ASEAN, China, and India. In addition, the country's aim is to achieve the highest GDP growth rate in Southeast Asia in the coming years.

The government of Myanmar has been making numerous efforts to achieve this objective and to make doing business in Myanmar easier. Registering your company is the first step that you will have to take before you can make any investments in the country. This brochure has been prepared to make registering a company a transparent, easy-to-understand, and cost-effective process for local and foreign companies. It has been developed by the Directorate of Investment and Company Administration (DICA) and the Deutsche Gesellschaft für Internationale Zusammenarbeit (GIZ), which are also preparing guidelines on the processes involved in obtaining investment permits. More initiatives will soon be launched to further reform the company registration and investment permit issuance processes in order to facilitate stronger investment in Myanmar and to restore Myanmar's economy to prosperity.

I. Company Registration in Myanmar

1. Legal Framework

The Myanmar Companies Act of 1914 and the Special Companies Act of 1950 are the two fundamental pieces of legislation that govern company registration in Myanmar. These two laws describe how companies in Myanmar are formed and managed. They contain provisions on key matters such as company registration, company management, financial reporting and audit requirements for companies, share capital and capital raising, duties of directors, and the winding up of companies.

Registration is the first step a businessperson will be required to take before starting a business or making an investment in Myanmar, whether that person is a citizen of Myanmar or a foreigner. Companies register with the Directorate of Investment and Company Administration (DICA), which was established under the aegis of the Ministry of National Planning and Economic Development in 1993. In addition to registering companies, DICA is also responsible for monitoring and reporting on the operation of registered and authorized companies.

2. Types of company

In accordance with the Myanmar Companies Act of 1914 and the Special Companies Act of 1950, a company may be registered in one of the following forms:

- As a private company by Myanmar citizens (under the Myanmar Companies Act of 1914),
- As a public company by Myanmar citizens (under the Myanmar Companies Act of 1914),
- As a foreign company (under the Myanmar Companies Act of 1914),
- As a branch or representative office of a foreign company (under the Myanmar Companies Act of 1914),
- As a joint venture company with the government of Myanmar (under the Special Companies Act of 1950), or
- As an association/nonprofit organization (under the Myanmar Companies Act of 1914).

Entrepreneurs and investors are advised to register their company in the form most appropriate to their own needs and the needs of their business. Foreigners may register their company as a foreign company or as a branch of a foreign company. For some economic activities, foreigners may need to form a joint venture with a business owned by a citizen of Myanmar or with an institution based in Myanmar.

The guide maps in the following section provide detailed yet straightforward and easy-to-understand step-by-step instructions on how to register a company in Myanmar, each concerning a different type of company. The guide maps describe the steps required for registration, the documents that must be submitted during each of these steps, and the fees required for each step.

¹ A list of economic activities in which foreign investors may invest only in the form of a joint venture with a local partner, a local company, or citizens of Myanmar is provided in Notification No. 26/2016 under the Foreign Investment Law of 2012, which was issued by the Myanmar Investment Commission on March 21, 2016.

III. Compliance with Legal Requirements upon Successful Registration

Upon incorporation, companies must act in accordance with all applicable laws and regulations. Below are some of the provisions of the Myanmar Companies Act of 1914 which companies are required to comply with.

- Every company must register the allotment of shares (Form VI) within one month of the allotment date. The registration fee is 25,000 kyats.
- Companies must register details of their director(s), manager(s), and/or managing agent(s) and notify the authorities of any changes to the composition of their general management (Form XXVI) within 14 days of the appointed date or the date on which the changes occurred. The registration fee is 25,000 kyats.
- Companies are required to notify the authorities of the location of their registered office to which all communication and notices can be addressed. The address of the initial registered office must be provided to DICA when filing the registration documents. All companies must inform DICA of any change of address within 28 days of the date on which the change occurred. The registration fee is 25,000 kyats.
- A company must hold its first annual general meeting (AGM) within 18 months from the date of its incorporation and then at least once every calendar year and within no more than 15 months of the previous meeting. To comply, companies are required to submit the records of the AGM, an annual list of members, and the summary of share capital (Form E) within 21 days of the AGM. The lodge fee is 25,000 kyats.
- Every company is required to submit a copy of every extraordinary and special resolution of the company with DICA within 15 days from the date of the resolution.
- Notice of extraordinary meetings must be given at least 21 days before the date on which such a meeting is to take place.
- Foreign branch offices are required to submit their head office's financial statements, their representative office's financial statements, and annual general reports for each financial year. The registration fee is 75,000 kyats.

IV. Essential Documents to Be Submitted for Company Registration Certificate Renewal

Company registration certificates for all types of companies in Myanmar are only valid for five years. This includes companies run by citizens of Myanmar, foreign companies, branches of foreign companies, joint ventures, and nonprofit organizations.

Companies are required to renew their registration with DICA before a business registration certificate expires. When applying for renewal, companies must include the documents listed below.

1. Document Requirements for Local (Private and Public) Companies

- Application for renewal of permit and registration,
- Form E (update),
- Form 26 (update),
- A financial report and an annual report of the company,
- A certified copy of the income tax clearance from the Internal Revenue Department,
- The current address of the company

2. Document Requirements for Foreign Companies

- Application for renewal of registration,
- Form A, completed and signed,
- Specific business activities of the company,
- A list of directors/shareholders,
- Form E (update), completed and signed,
- Audited financial statements for the last two years,
- Credit advices relating to any capital brought in,
- A copy of the permit issued by the Myanmar Investment Commission for the foreign company licensed by MIC,
- A tour license (update) (tourism companies only),
- A certified copy of the income tax clearance from the Internal Revenue Department

3. Document Requirements for Branches and Representative Offices of Foreign Companies

- Application for renewal of registration,
- Form A, completed and signed,
- A detailed list of the company's business activities,
- Audited financial statements (balance sheets, profit-and-loss statements) of the branch, audited financial statements (statements) of the parent company, and annual reports of the head office,
- Credit advices relating to minimum capital brought in (only for first renewal companies),
- A license from the Central Bank of Myanmar (representative offices of banks only),
- A certified copy of the income tax return from the Internal Revenue Department,
- A copy of the permit issued by the Myanmar Investment Commission to the foreign company permitted by MIC

V. Frequently Asked Questions

1. What types of companies may be registered in Myanmar?

The Myanmar Companies Act of 1914 provide for several types of entities to conduct business in Myanmar. When the shares of company are owned by government, it must be incorporated under 1950 Special Companies Act. There are two main types of companies in Myanmar: private limited-liability companies and public limited-liability companies.

Companies may be registered in one of the following forms:

- As a private company (Myanmar citizens only),
- As a public company (Myanmar citizens only),
- As a foreign company,
- As a branch or representative office of a foreign company,
- As a joint venture company in which a Myanmar Government entity holds shares,
- As an association.

2. What is the company registration fee?

The company registration fee is 500,000 kyats for all types of private companies and 2,500,000 kyats for public companies. In addition, applicants are required to pay 1,000 kyats to buy a name check and 5,100 kyats for the company registration. Registrations fees are the same for all types of companies, that is, both for companies run by citizens of Myanmar and for foreign companies.

Applicants are also required to pay stamp duty from the Internal Revenue Department. The stamp duty fees range from 65,000 kyats to 165,000 kyats depending on the authorized capital of the applicant company. Applicants need to pay the fees of stamp duty according to the defined time-frame of Internal Revenue Department. Associations are not required to pay stamp duty on registration.

3. How long does it take until a company incorporation certificate is issued?

For local companies, company incorporation certificates will be issued within three days upon payment of the registration fees to DICA.

For foregin companies, permanent certificates for businesses that do not need an MIC certificate will be issued within as few as three days upon receipt of a bank credit advice by DICA relating to capital that has been transferred to the company's account. Permanent certificates for businesses that do need an MIC certificate will be issued immediately upon issuance of the MIC permit. (In accordance with the Foreign Investment Law, applications for MIC permits are reviewed and approved within 90 days of the date on which the application was received.)

4. What is the minimum capital requirement when registering a company?

In general, there is no minimum capital requirement when registering a company in Myanmar. Minimum capital requirements for banking, insurance and securities companies should refer to regulations of the Central Bank of Myanmar and Ministry of Planning and Finance respectively.

However, there are initial capital requirements for Myanmar public companies and foreign companies. This capital remains with the respective company and can be used by this company according to their operational needs.

Myanmar public companies: 50 million Myanmar kyats

Foreign companies, branches or representative offices:

- MIC permitted companies: US$150,000

MIC permitted companies are expected to bring in their initial capital according to their investment plan. Proof of the initial capital brought in needs to be provided only when renewing the registration after 5 years.

- Others: US$50,000

Upon registration, other companies are required to provide a credit advice from a bank account in Myanmar that states that 50% of the initial capital has been transferred. The remaining 50% is due no later than five years upon receipt of the registration certificate.

5. When registering a company as a joint venture, are there any provisions regarding the share proportion or the percentage applicable to foreign investors?

DICA has no restriction regarding the share proportion for joint ventures between Myanmar citizens and foreigners. For MIC permitted companies, Notification No.26/2016 under the Foreign Investment Law 2012 provides a list of economic activities in which foreign investors may invest only in the form of a joint venture with a local partner, a local company, or citizens of Myanmar. For non-MIC permitted companies, the share proportion can be regulated depending on the main objectives of companies and specific regulations from relevant ministries. For detail information on allowed share proportions for joint ventures, please visit to Company Registration Division at DICA or write an email to core.gov.mm@gmail.com.

6. What are the minimum and the maximum number of shareholders in a private company and in a public company?

In a private company, the transfer of shares is restricted, and the number of shareholders may range from a minimum of two to a maximum of fifty. Public limited-liability companies must have a minimum of seven shareholders.

7. Can companies begin operations immediately after registration?

Unless further licenses are required from other relevant ministries and / or departments, private companies may begin operations immediately after they have received their company incorporation certificate. Information regarding required licenses for different economic activities can be inquired directly at Company Registration Division at DICA or via email to core.gov.mm@gmail.com.

Public companies must apply for a Certificate for Commencement of Business before they can begin operations. Details on how to apply for the Certificate for Commencement of Business for public companies are provided in the guide map “Registration of Myanmar Public Companies” in Section 2 of this handbook. These documents are also available for download from the DICA website.

8. What documents are required for registering a company?

There are different types of documents required for registration depending on the type of company or entity. Details on what documents are required for each type of company are provided in Section 2 of this brochure. This brochure is also available for download from the DICA website.

9. How long are company registration certificates valid?

Company registration certificates are valid for five years. After the initial five-year period, companies must have their certificates renewed. Details of registration renewal procedures are provided in Section 4 of this brochure.
